Jenny studied at Capilano College and UBC, where she received her Bachelor's degree of Fine Arts along with an IODE award for excellence in Creative Writing. She later obtained a Bachelor's degree in elementary education. She has been published in The Canadian Children's Annual (Grolier Press).

Westcoast Child Care Resource Centre, the first specialized child care resource centre in Western Canada, remembers Jenny's enthusiasm in helping develop the centre from the ground up as a Parent Outreach Coordinator and as the Administrator during its first ten years of existence, where her remedy for troubleshooting network issues was to stamp her feet and turn around in a circle three times before trying other solutions.

Jenny enjoys art, technology and creative recycling projects. Her lifestyle on the Pacific coast includes peaceful morning walks, taking too many photos of Canada geese and admiring the occasional blue heron.
