

Mike Strobel Bio 2023

Mike Strobel has been a journalist for 40 years, formerly as a daily humour columnist and editor-in-chief of the Toronto Sun, with stints at newspapers in Ottawa, Montreal and Calgary. His columns have appeared in Postmedia papers across Canada. This is his third book, after a collection of columns (Dundurn, 2010) and a fundraising project (self-published as North Channel Press, 2021) highlighting stories about kids with disabilities at Variety Village in Toronto. Strobel divides his time between downtown Toronto and a log cabin near Kagawong, on Manitoulin Island, with wife Carolyn and Norwegian forest cat Tulip.
